

DEVIL'S ANGEL

I've got a pretty little girl, she's a real devil's angel
She can be your best friend, she can be the perfect stranger
She can kill you with a smile, she can easily drive you crazy
She can act real cool, she can be a diplomatic lady

And when she does her little tricks, I know that I'm lost Cause there's not way I can know what will be the next one
She's a pretty little girl but she's a real devil's angel

If you fall in love with her you never get to learn the lesson Cause you make too many questions but there's never, never an answer
She can promise you the world, she can promise she'll never change but Next day she will act just like she doesn't remember

Soon comes the day when you decide to try and leave her
She doesn't seem to care cause her pride allows no tears
But she prepares a new plan, cause she knows, she knows your feelings
And you fall in her trap and you find yourself in the beginning

And I don't know what I love in that mysterious heart
If the wild, if the cool, if the light or the dark
If the woman, if the baby, if the sun or the moon
Bur for good or for bad she's now part of me
Cause I love her and I hate her, she's a real devil's angel
