

DID YOU TELL HER

Did you tell her that I'm lonely
That I want her here with me
That my freedom is just nonsense
That the void is too deep

Did you tell her that the shadows
Swept the sunlight off my street
Did you tell her my piano
Wouldn't let me touch its keys

I don't blame her is she's tired of waiting for me to wake up
I'm always escaping and implicating
Ghosts and Chinese shadows in the sky

Did you tell her I've no direction
That I'm groping in the dark
That I need her reflection
Like a sailor needs the stars

Did you tell her that I roam through empty dreams
That the vertigo of a lifetime without her feels so real
And now everything seems so pointless
Like a sky over the sky
Did you tell her to hurry
I won't let her down this time
